More Inappropriate Anagrams

More Poems & Portraits Revealing the Secret Alter Egos of 40 Luminary People Inadvertently Omitted from Volume One

by DAVID LAWRENCE CUNDY / WAVY DANCER INCLUDED

Word games and puzzles have universal appeal. Anagrams – a savvy kind of wordplay in which letters are shuffled to create new words – bring smiles to our faces as we delight in their irreverent absurdity and unexpected wit. Anagrams of peoples' names are especially humorous: almost everyone has at least one really funny secret alter ego hidden in their name.

In More Inappropriate Anagrams, over five hundred easy-to-find, boldface anagrams in forty tongue-twisting “shenanagram” poems will surprise and delight the reader. Like its predecessor, Inappropriate Anagrams, (ISBN: 978-0-9886808-5-2), this entirely new collection profiles renowned cultural and historical personas. VENUS DE MILO, LADY MACBETH, LANGSTON HUGHES, GRETA GARBO, NEIL ARMSTRONG and STEPHEN HAWKING are among those celebrated.

The secret alter egos of the featured luminaries are brought to life by the author's light-hearted, laugh-out-loud collage portraits. Whether visualizing DAME GREAT ARM or a WISER WOMBAT RANGER, More Inappropriate Anagrams will brighten every reader's day with a FONT OF SUN (TONS OF FUN).

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

David Cundy is an author, artist and poet. His debut children's book, Animals Spell Love (David R. Godine, 2017, ISBN 978-1-56792-586-9), features typographic word-pictures of the word “Love” in sixteen languages. More Inappropriate Anagrams (Hymnself, 2020, ISBN 978-0-9886808-6-9) – for adults – features humorous biographical anagram poems and portraits in the spirit of Lewis Carroll, Edward Lear, and e. e. cummings. David serves on the board of directors of the Connecticut Poetry Society and is a member of the Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators.
